PRISONER HEAVILY FINED, RELEASED THEN RE-ARRESTED

Charles Papavick of Twelfth street, was heavily fined this morning on a disorderly conduct charge and then turned over to constable Smith who preferred a warrant against him for carrying concealed weapons. He will be given a hearing this afternoon before Squire A. N. Shuster.

The convicting witness in Burgess Dunlap's court was Joe Minutage, a neighbor, who had some words with Popovich about a carousal in which the latter was a participant. Popovich, the witness said, threatened to do him bodily harm. When questioned by the burgess, the prisoner was silent as to the trouble. He said he had been slashed with a knife across the hand but wouldn't tell who his assailant was. A fine of $15.00 and costs was imposed. In all it amounted to $20.00. A friend paid the fine and immediately Constable Smith served a warrant for carrying concealed weapons and Popovich was again locked up. When arrested he had on his person a pair of brass knucklers and he attempted to use them on Officer Fred Menefee.

Officers Menefee, Albright and Rinehardt were called to 1218 Schoonmaker avenue last night where there was a drunken row in progress among some Croatians. Beer bottles and other weapons were being used. Four men were brought to the police station and this morning the one who got the worst of the mixup appeared with a bandaged head. He had been cut with a bottle. Berto Domladovic who used the bottle was fined $10.00 and the others $5.00 each. All the money was paid and the prisoners liberated.

ASSAULT ON GIRL SUNDAY MORNING

Tony Melo is in the borough lockup awaiting a hearing this afternoon before Squire Shuster on a charge of assault.

The assault was made on Ella Lageza, a Slavish girl employed as a kitchen girl at the Acme restaurant on Sixth street. It appears that the girl was on her way to work about 6:30 Sunday morning, coming up Schoonmaker avenue. Seemingly Melo seeing the girl coming up, stepped into a store room between Fourth and Fifth streets until the girl passed, when he followed her as far as the alley at the rear of the Parr grocery, where he attacked her, threw her down and placed his hand over her mouth. The commotion was heard by Chef Andrews who rushed to her aid, but on account of her screams she was released and her assailant disappeared.

However a policeman and Chef Andrews trailed him and he was arrested on Donner avenue and locked up to await a hearing.

Attend the remnant sale Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at the A. R. Ney Co.'s store. 3-3t

Basket Ball Stars Have Troubles and Disagree

The Charleroi and Monongahela basket ball teams have clashed and have agreed to disagree hereafter. All engagements have been cancelled and Monongahela has declared that no more engagements will be made with the Magic City players.

The reason assigned is that the Charleroi players are too exacting about trifling matters, alleging that when the time arrived to arrange for Saturday's game, objections were made to the floor when both teams had played former games under the same conditions. The cancellation of Saturday's game on the part of Charleroi resulted in Monongahela shirking that team from its hat.

MAN IS JAILED FOR ASSAULT ON MOTHER

Moses B. Rosenburg of Union township, near Monongahela, was given a hearing this morning on a charge of assault and battery and attempt to kill before Alderman Wyper. It appears the fellow, who is aged about 24, on Saturday made a murderous assault upon his mother, Mrs. Jennie Williams, who no doubt would have been killed but for the interference of neighbors. When arrested Rosenburg had on his person a pair of knucklers and a large carving knife. In default of $1,000 bail, he was taken to jail at Washington to await the grand jury's action.

Elks' Minstrel Promises To be the Best Yet Given

Tickets have sold exceptionally well this year for the Elks' Minstrel, the boys say, and every indication points to this being about the best and most successful show the local lodge has ever put on.

Some radical changes, we learn, are being made this year, and the show will take more the professional turn than heretofore. Some features of past years that have become a bit threadbare will be dropped and new and modern ideas will be introduced which will go a long way to make the show good and please and entertain the people.

Jack Keefer, the well known local theatrical and minstrel man has charge of the affair and in assigning the parts to the forty people in his well selected company he has exercised care and judgment, and every man has a part particularly suited to his ability.

Viewed from every angle, it is safe to predict that the best minstrel the Monessen Elks have ever presented to the people of this locality will be given.

The show is scheduled for Friday and Saturday of this week—February 12 and 13—with a Saturday afternoon matinee.

Tickets can be exchanged beginning Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the box office of the Star theatre, for any or all of the performances.

The Entre Nous club was entertained Saturday afternoon by the Misses Carrie and Sara Shutterly at their home on Donner avenue. The usual routine was carried out, after which a lunch was served by the hostesses.

BODY OF BOY KILLED NEAR TREMONT MINE IDENTIFIED BY FATHER

The boy killed Saturday morning and found along the railroad tracks near Belle Vernon, was identified about 5:15 Saturday evening as Steve Fachikoyyic of Twelfth street, Donora.

The body had been taken to the undertaking rooms of Hancock & Mellinzer, Belle Vernon and prepared for burial, when the father, Sandora Fachikoyyic appeared Saturday evening and identified the body.

The father is employed at the Fayette City mines and it appears the boy left home some time Friday w a basket to walk to Fayette City to get the Sunday groceries at the company store.

The father saw that the order was filled, but for the lad's safety kept him with him all night, fearing to let him start home along the railroad tracks at night.

The boy was started early Saturday morning with his basket of groceries, the father charging him very explicitly to keep off the tracks.

The boy was killed just above the Tremont mine, being struck by train No. 51 which arrives at Monessen at 6:29. One ankle was broken, the back of the head crushed and the body received other slight bruises.

The remains were taken to the Donora home Sunday morning from where the funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in the Donora cemetery.

The unfortunate lad was aged 14 years, being the oldest of a family of seven children, and aside from the six children, he is survived by the father and mother.

UNDERTAKING

Now is The Time To Get Your Overland

TODAY motoring is popular the year around.

The old fallacy of not geting your new car before spring is a thing of the past.

In fact motoring right now is far more beneficial and much better sport.

So get that notion out of your head—make up your mind to get a car now—and listen to why it should be an Overland.

Price considered, the Overland has greater value than any other car in the world.

That's a big statement but, nevertheless, a fact.

To begin with, the Overland has the high tension magneto—the most dependable and uniform system of ignition. Many cars have only the cheaper battery ignition.

It has larger tires than many cars of our price. They are 34 inch x 4 inch all around.

Then there is the simple driving arrangement. All electric control buttons are located on the steering column. On many cars the control buttons are located on the dash which is unhandy and often mighty inconvenient.

In bad weather the Overland can be made just about as comfortable, cozy and snug as a closed car. The side curtains fit perfectly and give complete protection from draughts, rain or snow.

The list of Overland advantages is long—too long to give here.

Our dealer will gladly explain and demonstrate everything.

Remember—now is the time for motoring.

Mountains You May Not Know.

I had imagined that the Rockies were the whole show. I had not the faintest recollection of the Cordilleran system of which the Rockies and all these other ranges are but a part, while, as for the Sierra Nevadas, I remembered them only when I came to them, and then much as one will recall a slight acquaintance who has been in jail for many years.

Are you shocked by my ignorance—or my confession of it? Then let me ask you if you know that the Uinta mountain range in Utah is the only range in the entire country that runs east and west? And have you ever heard of the Toquop mountains, or the Cedar mountains, or the Santa Rosa, or the Egans, or the Humboldts, or the Washoes, or the Goshutes, or the Toyabes, or the Toquimas, or the Hot Creek mountains? And did you know that in California, as well as in New Hampshire, there are White mountains? And what do you know of the Wasatch and Oquirrh ranges?—Julian Street in Collier's Weekly.

Hungary's Wonderful Salt Mines.

The great rock salt mines of Hungary are among the wonders of the world, for the illimitable deposit of practically pure salt enables the workmen to cut it out in heavy blocks, much as marble is quarried, after which it is loaded on trucks and sent to the mills for grinding. Rock salt, it may be said, constitutes the world's principal supply of refined salt, and the Hungarian mines furnish a considerable portion of this commercial necessity. Underground passages of considerable width, resembling streets, have been cut at regular intervals, and the whole is well lighted. In one of the mines near the Roumanian boundary a large chamber, with benches and seats, has been cut, where occasional gatherings are held, and perhaps in honor of this fact it is known as the "ballroom." Here the colorings are beautiful, the walls of the cavern or hall partaking of the many shades of rare marble and color grained onyx.

Chrysanthemums of Japan

Although the chrysanthemum has reached its highest form of development in Japan and is still reverenced as the imperial emblem, it was taken to Japan from China, where it has been brought to its highest state of cultivation. At the imperial chrysanthemum party given by his majesty the emperor of Japan in November every year one sees the most marvelous blossoms known to the floriculturist. The number of blossoms from one root is amazing. In one case no less than 700 flowers were seen growing from one plant. The festival of the chrysanthemum dates back to the Heian era, when the great ones of the empire used to call at the imperial palace and drink to the health of the imperial house from sake cups in which floated petals of the beautiful flowers.

Old Time Coining.

In the fifteenth century a skilled coiner, of whom there were but few, might be able to turn out by hand fifty or sixty coins a day, a result totally inadequate to cope with the vast quantity of treasure, chiefly silver, that shortly began to arrive from America. To multiply coiners was to multiply forgers, and thus the coining machine became a necessity of state. A laminating mill and screw coining press was invented in Italy 1547, Spain 1548, France 1553 and England 1561, reign of Elizabeth. After several trials and abandonments the mill and press were established permanently under Charles II., whose golden guineas, struck in 1662, were the first regular issues of machine coins made north of the channel.—Argonaut.

Why They Don't Hear.

Perhaps the limit of hymnic fatuity was reached by the writer of hymn 375 in the "Ancient and Modern" collection. Here is the fourth stanza:

They do not hear when the great bell
Is ringing overhead;
They cannot rise and come to church
With us, for they are dead.

The list of things which "they" are unable to do might be indefinitely extended, and it seems a thing incredible that the author of the above verse should have written so beautiful and moving a hymn as "There is a green hill far away."—London Chronicle.

Canada's Size.

The area of the Dominion of Canada is 3,658,946 square miles. The area of continental United States is 3,025,000 square miles. Canada is as big as the United States with a territory to spare that is as large as three German empires and the state of New York.—New York American.

The Gentle Exterior.

"What I admire" said the statesman, "is the hand of iron in the glove of velvet."

"Yes, indeed," replied Miss Cayenne. "It is much more unusual than the head of bone in the hat of silk."—Washington Star.

Mrs. Green Well Named.

Mrs. Gray—The window in my hall has stained glass in it. Mrs. Green—Too bad! Can't you find anything that will take the stains out?—New Haven Register.

To Be Expected.

"I've been reading Shakespeare. Hadn't poor Hamlet a dog's life?"

"Well, wasn't he a Great Dane?"—Baltimore American.

Contradictory.

"That big, fat slob is the black sheep of the family, is he not?"

"Yep. He's the family skeleton."—Boston Post.

THE RURAL PRESS

The Local Paper a Most Useful Agency on the Farm—The Press, Pulpit and School a Trinity of Influence That Must Be Utilized in Building Agriculture.

By Peter Radford
Lecturer National Farmers' Union

A broad campaign of publicity on the subject of rural life is needed in this state today to bring the problems of the farmers to the forefront. The city problems are blazoned upon the front pages of the metropolitan dailies and echoed in the country press, but the troubles of the farmers are seldom told, except by those who seek to profit by the story, and the glitter of the package ofttimes obscures the substance. A searching investigation into the needs of the farmers will reveal many inherent defects in our economic system that can be easily remedied when properly understood and illuminated by the power of the press.

The rural press, the pulpit and the school are a trinity of powerful influences that the farmer must utilize to their fullest capacity before he can occupy a commanding position in public affairs. These gigantic agencies are organized in every rural community and only await the patronage and cooperation of the farmers to fully develop their energy and usefulness. They are local forces working for the best interests of their respective communities. Their work is to build and their object is to serve. They prosper only through the development and prosperity of the community.

Every farmer in this state should subscribe for the local paper, as well as farm periodicals and such other publications as he may find profitable, but he should by all means subscribe for his local paper, and no home should be without it. The local paper is part of the community life and the editor understands the farmer's problems. It is the local press that will study the local problems and through its columns deal with subjects of most vital importance to local life of the community.

A Noble Task.

In too many instances the country papers mimic the city press by giving prominence to scandals, accidents and political agitation. The new rural civilization has placed upon the rural press renewed responsibilities, and enlarged possibilities for usefulness. It cannot perform its mission to agriculture by recording the frailties, the mishaps and inordinate ambitions of humanity, or by filling its columns with the echoes of the struggles of busy streets, or by enchanting stories of city life which lure our children from the farm.

It has a higher and nobler task. Too often the pages of the city dailies bristle with the struggle of ambitious men in their wild lust for power, and many times the flames of personal conflict sear the tender buds of new civilization and illuminate the pathway to destruction. The rural press is the governing power of public sentiment and must hold steadfast to principle and keep the ship of state in the roadstead of progress. The rural press can best serve the interests of the farmers by applying its energies to the solution of problems affecting the local community. It must stem the mighty life current that is moving from the farm to the cities, sweeping before it a thousand boys and girls per day. It has to deal with the fundamental problems of civilization at their fountain head. Its mission is to direct growth, teach efficiency and mold the intellectual life of the country, placing before the public the daily problems of the farmers and giving first attention to the legislative, co-operative, educational and social needs of the agricultural classes within its respective community.

The Power of Advertising.

The influence of advertising is clearly visible in the homes and habits of the farmers, and the advertising columns of the press are making their imprint upon the lives of our people. The farmer possesses the things that are best advertised.

The farmer is entitled to all the advantages and deserves all the luxuries of life. We need more art, science and useful facilities on the farms, and many homes and farms are well balanced in this respect, but the advertiser can render a service by teaching the advantages of modern equipment throughout the columns of the rural press.

The farmers are in need of personal leadership. They have political leaders, but they need local industrial community and educational leaders.

Cupid's Sherlock Holmes.

A prominent alienist has presumed to put love on a scientific basis. He has issued a formula by which a doubting swain may ascertain without fail the name of his closest rival for "her" affections.

Here it is:

Carelessly hold "her" wrist, as if caressingly. Craftily place your forefinger on "her" pulse. Then name over in casual conversation the rivals you fear most. When you name the right one "her" pulse will jump scandalously. If it increases something like 100 beats you might as well quit the race.

To offset this mean betrayal the alienist has issued some hints to the fair sex on how to avoid nervousness. "Scorn gossip," he says, "and don't attend to other persons' business or worry over their troubles and you will be all right."

But he doesn't say a word as to how Dulcinea might have kept the fatal pulse jump from giving her away.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Grecian Food For Dreamers.

Hasheesh, the strange drug which has given our language its word "assassin"—a man so frenzied by the drug that he accomplishes murder—is used by the Persians, Turks and Egyptians. It is the product of a plant grown in large quantities in the Peloponnesus (southern Greece), in the district about Tripolitza. The plant grows to a height of about four feet, and its branches are thickly covered with small leaves and studded with tiny seeds. The entire plant, stalk and branches, is cut within a few inches of the root and laid out in the sun to dry. The branches are then rubbed to separate the seeds, and these in turn are ground into a fine powder, which constitutes the drug. The drug has the power of inducing sleep and producing pleasant and fantastic dreams. Continued use of hasheesh renders its devotees reckless and results in a wreck of their mental and physical constitution.

Fame of a Tailor.

The name of Captain Kearne has a secure niche in history as the founder of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company. He was a merchant tailor and had been a member of the Honorable Artillery company of London, and his Boston company had to overcome the opposition of Governor Winthrop who feared the establishment of a Praetorian guard. Perhaps Kearne would have failed entirely had he not been "distinguished for his piety and benevolence." In the practice of his art as a tailor he ran foul of the laws for the regulation of business and was fined £200 by the great and general court for exacting more than sixpence in the shilling profit on foreign goods. He died in Boston March 23, 1656, and his will, in which was a substantial bequest to Harvard, is one of the longest on record.—New York Sun.

A Dyak War Yell.

I was anxious to hear a Dyak war yell, and I asked the rajah to get a native to give vent to one of these sounds of gratification, heard when heads are taken by Dyaks without loss to themselves. A curious falsetto sound issued from his lips. It went higher and higher, louder and louder, something between the crowing of a cock and the whistle of a steam engine, and then it died down into a whisper. Two or three times he repeated this performance, which greatly interested me. It was not so terrible as I had imagined it must be, but the rajah explained that when heard in a chorus of thousands of men, all yelling at once, as he had heard it after successful skirmishes with the pirates, it was a most terrifying experience, and froze the blood in one's veins.—Wide World Magazine.

An Old Time Joker.

It happened that Dean Swift, having been dining at some little distance from Larracor, his residence, was returning home on horseback in the evening, which was very dark. Just before he reached a neighboring village his horse lost a shoe. Unwilling to run the risk of laming the animal by continuing his ride in that direction, he stopped at one Kelly's, the blacksmith of the village, where, having called the man, he asked him if he could shoe a horse with a candle.

"No," replied the son of Vulcan, "but I can with a hammer."

Lingering Leave Taking.

The visiting lady had kept her hostess at the open door fully half an hour saying goodby. Finally an irate masculine voice indoors called out:

"Say, Maria, if you're going out, go; if you're staying, stay, but for heaven's sake don't ooze out."—Harper's Magazine.

Ought to Have Leaked Out.

"Isn't it strange that so few men discover the secret of success in life?"

"Yes, but it's stranger still that the secret is still a secret. Surely some of the men who discovered it must have told it to their wives."—Philadelphia Press.

Russia's Duma.

No law in Russia can come into effect without the approval of the duma—an elected body of representatives—and the council of the empire, nominated by the emperor.

Just So.

"Do you think that marriage is a lottery?"

"Can't say. I do. Still, everybody who marries takes a chance."—Kansas City Journal.

Idleness is many gathered miseries in one name.

PERPETUATE HAPPINESS

All of us can do something to make the world better and our lives a little sweeter, if we but try. There are troubles and always will be, but we can do a great deal towards lessening them if we only take stock of our contributions to them and resolve to abate our activity in that line. We can't do much in the way of becoming our brother's keeper until we learn how to keep ourselves.

There is no doubt that quite a number of people about the first of the year, after reviewing the delinquencies of the twelve months past, made firm resolves to do better this year. Human nature is the same the world over, and good intentions often fall short after a short trial. But no one should be discouraged for falling down. It is better to have entertained some higher aspirations than not to have recognized our deficiencies at all. Try again, and with constant attempts you may soon get the habit of being better and doing better by cutting out every spite and malice and other pernicious faults you may have contracted. Look at things from the broad, charitable point of view. Seldom has better advice been given for the increase of happiness than is contained in the following excerpts taken from a recent publication. Read it and digest it and be benefitted:

"If you would increase your happiness and prolong life, forget your neighbors' faults. Forget all the slander you have heard. Forget the temptations. Forget the fault finding, and give a little thought to the cause that provoked it. Forget the peculiarities of your friends and only remember the good points which make you fond of them. Forget all personal quarrels or history you may have heard by accident, and which, if repeated, would seem a thousand times worse than they are. Blot out as far as possible all the disagreeables of life; they will come, but will only grow larger when you remember them and the constant thoughts of the acts of meanness, or worse still, malice, will only tend to make you more familiar with them. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday, start out with a clean sheet today, and write upon it for memory's sake only those things which are lovable, just and right.

Either those sixteen hens owned by Mr Shuster at Adamsburg, are wonderful producers or they have an excellent press agent. The report that the hens have averaged more than an egg a day during January will surely make the average hen ashamed of herself.

If the price of wheat continues to go up, the 10 cent loaf of bread must be getting uncomfortably close. And its quite hard for many to get bread now at half that price.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective.

They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

WHISKY SOLD IN PUMPKINS

The town of Kenova is located in three different states—West Virginia, Virginia and Kentucky, and it is said to be making State Prohibition Commissioner Blue earn his salary, and giving him more trouble than any other town of the recently made dry state.

At first the Kenovites bought their liquor in the Kentucky part of the town and took it to the West Virginia part for consumption. When the prohibition commissioner stopped this, a cable was stretched and the liquor was taken across the line by baskets, but this too, was stopped.

The latest move to outwit the Yost prohibition law has been the placing of pint bottles of liquor in pumpkins, which the Kentucky farmers haul to Kenova, charging $1 for a pumpkin, containing one pint bottle. One farmer is said to have sold 2,000 pumpkins in a single day. Blue however, also detected this method and it is said another scheme has been devised which will be worked out. It is said a canvasser was in the city Saturday producing orders for pints at $1 each and notified patrons to station themselves along Racoon creek, about a mile east of Kenova at 8:30 o'clock Sunday night and will be ready to be rolled down the Kentucky side.

The funeral of Miss Ellen Watkinson of Charleroi, was held Sunday afternoon, services being conducted at the home on Washington avenue by Rev. E. N. Duty of the Christian church and later at St. Mary's Episcopal church by the Rev. John Lyons. Interment was made at Gibsonton cemetery. Deceased was aged 20 years and had been a sufferer with tuberculosis. She is survived by her mother, five brothers and two sisters.

MILL WAGES REGULATED

For the first time it is said in the history of the Pittsburgh district, representatives of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin workers on Saturday, tentatively agreed to accept a six per cent. to eleven and two tenths per cent. reduction in wages and representatives of the independent sheet and tin plants of the country employing from 10,000 to 15,000 men agreed to maintain, even at the certain loss of some business the high standard of manhood among their employees.

The agreement means on sheets, where the selling price is $1.90 a hundred pounds and up to $2.35, the men accept a reduction of 11.2 per cent. in wages. On tinplate, 100 pound boxes where the market price is $3.20 to $3.50, the men accept a wage cut of six per cent.

As the market price goes higher than the two maxims named, wages are to advance from one to one and six tenths for every five cents per hundred pounds raise.

Plants, all organized and in agreement with the Amalgamated association are affected in Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Illinois, Indiana and Missouri.

The agreement was reached at a joint conference in the Fort Pitt hotel Pittsburgh, ending almost two weeks of continuous conferences which sometimes seemed hopelessly deadlocked.

Father Moravek. Interment was made in Grandview cemetery.

I WAS RUN DOWN, NERVOUS AND WEAK

Cause? Chronic Cough—A Friend Advised Me to Take Vinol—I Did—It Made Me Well and Strong.

Jennings, La.—"I was run-down, nervous, weak, dizzy, and tired all the time as a result of a chronic cough which kept me awake nights for months. I have four in my family, and I was not able to do my daily housework. All the different medicines I had taken failed to do me any good until a friend told me about Vinol. I took it and within a month I felt so well and strong I could do my own housework. I would advise all weak women to take Vinol."—Mrs. A. FREYOU, Jennings, La.

Why will women in this vicinity continue to drag along day in and day out, all run-down, pale, thin, nervous, weak and all tired out when we are continually publishing letters from hundreds of reliable women which prove how Vinol overcomes such conditions and creates strength.

We ask every weak, nervous, rundown man or woman to come to our store and get a bottle of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, without oil, and if it fails to help you, we will return your money.

NOT THE ONLY ONE

There are Other Monessen People Similarly Situated

Can there be any stronger proof offered than the evidence of Monessen residents? After you have read the following, quietly answer that question.

Mrs. W. Koerner, 119 Knox avenue, Monessen, says: "I had a bad fall which injured my back. I suffered from a constant pain across my loins and in the morning I was always worse. If I stooped over, a sharp pain caught me and I couldn't straighten. The secretions from my kidneys were unnatural and caused me annoyance. I didn't rest well and rheumatic pains made it hard for me to get about. I was often so lame that I had to sit on cushions and I had puffy sacks beneath my eyes. I doctored and tried different medicines, but got no relief. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Hirsch Drug Co. drove most of the trouble away. I take this medicine off and on as a kidney tonic and it keeps me in good health."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Koerner had. Foster Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
